

Tyana Stone

FULL STACK WEB DEVELOPER

Profile

I am a full stack developer that lives, breathes and sleeps code. If you need someone with ambitious ideas and results, no need to look any longer, she's right here! In my previous life I was a restaurant server, where I was taking and delivering orders and making sure guest received their food with great quality and care, that commitment still remains today where I pay attention to clients needs and use problem-solving tactics to ensure they have the best quality product!
